S. A. REPUBLICS SEEK MEDIATION

UNOFFICIAL PROFFERS OF PEACE WORK TO COUNTRIES.

CARRANZA AND WILSON BOTH UNFAVORABLE

Mexican President Says Soil is Invaded and American Executive Says Honor is at Stake.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, June 24.—Ecuador has taken the lead in a movement to line up the Latin-American governments in a plan to offer mediation between the United States and Mexico. Plans were made for the conference by Latin-American diplomats in the near future.

Carranza Reported Unwilling.

Mexico City, June 24.—Semi-official proffers of mediation by Costarico and Salvador were rejected by Carranza who is said to have replied that Mexico's deep regard for soverignty forbids mediation in crisis precipitated by Americans in vasion of the Mexican soil.

Release of Prisoners Demanded.

Washington, June 24.—Immediate release of the seventeen prisoners taken at Carrizal was demanded of Carranza, following a conference between President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker.

War Seems Inevitable.

Unless Carranza immediately backs down war cannot be avoided. This was the concensus of opinion in administration circles today following a conference between President Wilson, Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary of War Baker.

At the conference a program was considered asking Carranza if the Americans were ambushed by his orders. If they were not a demand will then be made that officers responsible be subjected to immediate punishment. The reply must be made in the briefest time. If the reply is unsatisfactory, President Wilson will then appear before Congress to place the situation before that body and he will ask for a declaration of war. This program is favored in administration circles.

Pope Active for Peace.

London, June 24.—A dispatch from Rome says that the Pope has appealed to both President Wilson and Carranza in an earnest endeavor to avoid war.

Can't Mediate U. S. Honor.

Washington, June 24.—At a conference, President Wilson and his advisers agreed that the matters in dispute in Mexico were not of a character for mediation, and when the Latin American proposal is made it will be rejected on the grounds that the national honor is at stake.

It has been definitely determined to hold Carranza responsible for the Carrizal attack. He will be ordered to punish all the officers responsible in the case. If he refuses, congress will probably be called on to act by Wilson.

Chicago, June 24.—A brokerage firm received a message from a branch office in Mexico City saying that Carranza has decided to reject the terms in President Wilson's note.

Miss Maud McMillan will arrive tomorrow morning from Milwaukee, Wis., where she has been teaching, and will spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McMillan.

ON THE WAY TO MEXICO.

"On the way to Mexico: Here they come and there they go, khaki clad and faces set, in a way we can't forget.: Sweethearts just have said good-bye, sisters weep with tear dimmed eye, battle flags flung to the breeze, cruisers ploughing through the seas. Heaven forbid, yet it is so: "On the way to Mexico."

Din of hurry, sharp command, bugles blowing through the land; muster all your stalwart sons, drop your pens and take your guns: Has not this bombastic race dared and cursed us to our face? Were we not to anger slow, when they struck us many a blow? Shall we stand it? Answer, no: Hew your way through Mexico.

Level old Chihuahua's walls; level superstition's halls; set the serf bound peons free from the mountain to the sea. Let our starry banner swing; let our songs of freedom ring: Say to them, Be men and stand for your God-forgotten land. For these things we needs must go, on the way to Mexico.

EDINA IN BIG TROUBLE

COMPANY F WAS TRANSFERRED FROM HERE RECENTLY.

When Call Came for Entrainment, Citizens Opposed Enlistment of Their Sons.

When Company F broke up in Maryville a little over a month ago, it was transferred to Edina. Sixty-nine young men joined the company there. They got along fine until a few days ago when the call came and they were all to take the new oath. Only about twenty of the boys signed the new papers. The rest of them, backed by the people of the town are holding out.

The people of Edina are having quite a time. They will not let their boys go to war and are raising mobs to prevent it. The people opposing the calling out of the guard claim that the boys were enlisted through misrepresentations, not knowing what they were getting into but the loyal boys who signed the new oath say that there was no misrepresentation made to them when they enlisted.

The twenty Edina boys who have signed are in Kirksville awaiting orders. They will probably be sent to Savannah, Mo., and united with a portion of a company at that place.

According to law the rest of the boys will also have to sign the new oath and it is not known yet just what the regimental officers will do. The case has been taken up with Col. McNeely and he may bring some pressure to bear on Edina.

G. S. MILLER LOSES FINGER

"Frog" Springs Shut as It Was Being Loaded Into Scrap Car by Section Hands.

G. S. Miller, a workman on the east Wabash section, lost the first joint on the index finger of his left hand last night. The men were loading a "frog" into a scrap iron car when his finger was caught by the spring which snapped shut. The entire nail and first joint was removed as cleanly as a guillotine could have done it.

Mrs. Katherine Hansen of Bedison was a Maryville visitor today.

CLUB HAS EXHIBIT

FIRST AGRICULTURAL SAMPLE IN COMMERCIAL OFFICE.

SEEK COUNTY SHOWING

"Now is the Time to Collect, Say Normal, County Court and Maryville Organization.

An exhibit of timothy hay, 6 feet tall, was placed in the windows of the Maryville Commercial club, this morning grown by J. D. Dickerson, 302 East Sixth street. With the exhibit is a broad challenge to all who have as good or better to bring in the samples.

This is the beginning of what is hoped to be Nodaway's greatest year in agricultural exhibits. The county court, the Normal agricultural department and the agricultural committee of the Commercial club is reminding everyone at this time that it is now that the exhibits for the county and state fairs must be prepared particularly for the grasses and certain fruits.

Prizes of $50, $25, $15 and $10 are offered by the county court for the best exhibits from the various townships of the county at the Maryville-Nodaway County Fair. The first prize at the State Fair in Sedalia is $125 and others beneath range from $100 down to $10.

Exhibits are desired in grain, seeds, grasses and grain on stalk, tobacco, vegetables, fruit, corn, and miscellaneous articles. A detailed list of the things recommended for a complete showing can be secured by writing to the Maryville Commercial club or the Normal agricultural department.

All products must have been raised within Nodaway county this year but they need not have been raised by the exhibitor. Awards and prizes on these exhibits shall be based on quality, quantity and artistic arrangement. The award will be made by the following score:

Quality of products	30 points
Number of field products	15 points
Number of orchard products	15 points
Number of garden products	15 points
Artistic arrangement	20 points
Total	100 points

Heavy rains last year made an exhibit impossible at the state fair and seriously interferred with the county exhibits at the Maryville fair. It is hoped that Nodaway county may step into front rank in the matter of agricultural exhibits.

NEW GREEK CABINET SITS

Government Headed by Former Premier Zaimis—Allies' Blockade Lifted Today.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, June 24.—The blockade of Greek shipping has been lifted by the Allies.

The new Greek cabinet, headed by former Premier Zaimis, has assumed official control of the government.

The British liner Brussels was captured by a German submarine and taken to Zeebruggee.

Paris reports a violent struggle for the possession of Floury, three and a half miles northeast of Verdun. Violent action at other points in the Verdun section is also reported.

On the eastern front there are three separate battles in progress, north of the Galician frontier. All Bukowina is reported evacuated by the Austrians. Fighting is in progress in the Carpathian passes.

STILL CHANCE FOR COMPANY.

Another Regiment May Be Formed Out of Kansas City.

Kyle Phares, former captain of Company F, still has a chance of forming a company of militia in this city. Governor Major announced yesterday that he would issue commissions for the forming of two more regiments of militia in this state. Col. Horace Rumsey, excise commissioner of St. Louis, will probably form one in that city and the other will no doubt go to a Kansas City man.

MARYVILLE A GOOD TOWN

EDITOR GOODEN OF PARNELL LIKED CELEBRATION.

Says County Seat Knows How to Do Things at the Right Time.

The celebration at Maryville last Thursday in commemoration of the seventieth anniversary of the selling of the frst town lot, was largely attended.

"The Human Fly," Harry H. Gardiner, seemed to be the greatest attraction. He scaled the walls and windows of three buildings besides the court house, the latter of which he went to the extreme top and placed a flag of the U. S. A. Many were surprised that he did not scale the walls entirely instead of going from window to window. But you can't satisfy everybody. Many made the remark that with a little practice they could do the same thing. That may be so, but we are content to let Mr Gardiner have the honor that he is getting.

The base ball game at the fair grounds was largely attended in the afternoon between Stanberry and Maryville. It was a good game all the way through, and Maryville should have won, had it not been for the Maryville manager taking York, the southpaw pitcher, off the mound and repiacing him with the pitcher they used the day before. In our estimation York should have finished the game.

The "movies" were well attended in the afternoon and night. That great play, "Bella Donna," at the Empire drew two large crowds at night.

The day was fine and everything went along nicely. Maryville is a good town and knows how to do things at the right time.—Parnell Sentinel.

PEERY HEADS BROTHERHOOD

Wage Earners Prepare for Scoville Meeting by Choosing Up Sides for Contest.

M. A. Peery was elected president of the Wage Earners brotherhood of the Buchanan Street Methodist church at the regular monthly meeting last night. He succeeds C. A. Wilson who had moved from Maryville recently. A social hour was enjoyed after the election.

Plans for a participation in the coming union meetings under Charles Reign Scoville were discussed. Two sides were chosen with Dick Tulloch and J. H. Thorp as captains to recruit the membership of the Brotherhood in full again and to prepare the men spiritually for the personal work part of the revival.

'DAMAGED GOODS' BROKE RECORD

Empire Theatre Never Held Such Crowds in One Day Before.

The showing of "Damaged Goods" at the Empire Theatre yesterday broke the house record for attendance. Almost two thousand people saw the great moral lesson and were delighted with it. Nine continuous shows were given. The house was packed to the fire limit at 7:30 for the first.

A marriage license was issued by Recorder Baker to Joseph Peter of Conception and Mary Sullivan of Clyde.

DENY BOOZE INJUNCTION

JUDGE DIVELBISS SAYS IT'S CRIME TO CARRY LIQUOR.

Therefore Equity Proceeding is Illegal, Says Famous Taxdodgers' Nemesis.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Liberty, Mo., June 24.—In an opinion of more than 12,000 words, written by Circuit Judge Frank P. Divelbiss, an injunction to restrain a common carrier from delivering whisky, beer and other intoxicating liquors in dry territory is denied.

The opinion, which differs from the findings of several other circuit judges in Missouri who have heard similar cases, makes no defense of the traffic, cites authorities to show that the selling of intoxicating liquor in local option counties is illegal; says the selling is a crime, and that the equity court should not be invoked when the violators of the law may be punished for the commission of a crime and the traffic effectually stopped.

Judge Divelbiss' action in stopping tax dodging in Clay, Carroll and other central Missouri counties, attracted widespread attention recently.

In the case in which he ruled on the shipment of liquor, Prosecuting Attorney Ernest G. Simrall of Clay county applied for an injunction against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company.

The petition alleged that many persons under the guise of running legitistores, restaurants and other legitimate places of business, are in truth operating joints.

WILSON DEMANDS MEN BE RELEASED

FORMAL DECLARATION OF WAR MAY FOLLOW REFUSAL.

PERSHING AND TREVINO IN SEVERAL CLASHES

All State Militias Will Be Ready in Five Days—First of Missouri Men Leave Tonight.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, June 24.—An ultimatum demanding the immediate release of the troopers of the tenth cavalry, taken prisoners by Carranza, has been sent to Carranza. The men must be turned over to General Pershing immediately.

The action was decided at a meeting of President Wilson, Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary of War Baker. Further steps will be taken when the official reports of the Carrizal battle have been received.

16 Carrizal Survivors Found.

San Antonio, June 24.—Sixteen more survivors of the tenth cavalry were found in northwest Santamaria by a rescue party. The Pershing report said that their stories agreed with the first survivors that the Americans were ambushed. About sixty more are missing.

Attack U. S. Line Often.

San Antonio, June 24.—Information has been secured that the Mexicans attacked Pershing's line of communication near Namiquipa three times the past two days. All attacks were beaten off. Three Americans were badly wounded. They had to be brought back to the border. Advises indicate that the attackers were from Carranza troops.

11th Cavalry to Rescue.

El Paso, June 24.—The eleventh cavalry has been dispatched on a forced ride to Colonia Dublan in search of survivors. It is believed that they came into contact with Trevino's men.

Will Attack Americans.

Chihuahua, June 24.—Trevino has ordered that the Americans, who are reported to be advancing in the direction of Ojinago and Calientes, be attacked by the Mexicans unless the U. S. commander orders their retreat.

No Confirmation of Battle.

El Paso, June 24.—A report says that the troopers of the Eleventh cavalry are going to the rescue of the Carrizal victims. The report of the battle with the Carranzistas near San Foinandos is not confirmed.

Missourians Leave Tonight.

Nevada, June 24.—Federal officers began mustering in guardsmen today. The signal corps of Kansas City was the first mustered in, and will probably entrain tonight.

"DAMAGED GOODS" O. K.

The person who really wants the world to get better is thankful in his or her heart for "Damaged Goods," and for the two thousand who saw the great lesson in Maryville at the Empire theater yesterday. The film is simply first class in every particular. Only good can come from its showing.

The title of the play is the one questionable feature, and, like Billy Sunday's slang, it is used to get the crowds. Once there, the reels themselves are all lesson. With so many of the so-called "vice dramas" the lesson is tacked on at the end of the film merely to excuse, or to give a chance for, the presenting of a vast amount of rank filth which ought never to be permitted.

For instance, much of the acting of Theda Bara is obscene and an incentive and stimulant to impurity. Not so "Damaged Goods." Nowhere in the film is sin made alluring or attractive. In no scene is vice shown or even hinted at strongly enough to be in a class with the "seen too oft, familiar with her face" warning of the poet.

The sowing of the wild oats which all reap later is merely suggested. The hundreds of women and couples at the Empire last night were given no occasion to blush or feel embarrassed. Yet the film does not mince matters. That is one of the great features of the film. The greatness of the photoplay lies in the fact that frankness and plainness is used, and that it is employed in showing of the results, not the causes.

And in God's name why should such a situation be hushed and covered over? In a tornado or flood the central herophone girl who remains at her post and warns the countryside is a heroine. Why is it not infinitely more important to warn against this terrible moral monster which stalks through the land in ever-increasing menace?

The film is scientific. It gives the necessary knowledge. And that is what is needed. The tragic end of Marian Lambert and the trial of William Orpet for his life could all have been prevented by the young people being in full possession of the facts of life. Ignorance is the greatest ally of sin, wickedness and misery.

Dr. C. A. Ellwood, the great sociologist of the University of Missouri, quotes Dr. Prince A. Morrow, greatest authority in the world on social vice, to the effect that more than three-fourths of the men of America are impure before marriage and more than half are sexually diseased to a greater or less degree before entering the marriage relation.

Coming from such an authority, this condition cannot be doubted. What is the remedy? Boys and young men are given to understand that it is "smart" to sow wild oats, and the prerogative of a man. Girls and young women are taught that they must not even think of some of the greatest facts of life. So the dread cancer grows and 80 per cent of the operations upon women are the result of the sin of the husband.

Perhaps The Democrat-Forum will be censured for speaking so plainly. But if the watchman sounds not the warning as the enemy approaches, the blood guilt for the people shall be upon his head. Someone must stand forth and do what parents and the schools have not done.

"Damaged Goods" is one of the great agencies for righteousness. The teaching of sex hygiene in the public schools and in our homes, eugenic marriage laws and a sympathetic and competent treatment of the great question by press and pulpit is as inevitable as prohibition, woman suffrage and the other great reforms.

Maryville thanks Albert Kuchs, manager of the Empire, for bringing the great film lesson to this city.

His great lectures have inspired hundreds of thousands and yet ring rich and full and are freighted deep with the most helpful and vital messages of truth.

WOMEN WRITE MANY ADS

LEADERS WILL ATTEND CONVENTION NEXT WEEK.

Miss J. J. Martin and Miss Olive Cole Have Charge of Advertising for Large Concerns.

Philadelphia, June 24.—Arrangements have been perfected for a conference of advertising women during the anual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs, here June 25 to 30, and those in charge of the program expect a hundred or more women to take part.

There are half a dozen clubs of advertising women in the larger cities of the country, and some of the western advertising clubs—especially out in sections where women's suffrage is in vogue—admit women to membership on equal terms with the men.

Miss J. J. Martin of New York, advertising manager for a large concern, will be chairman of the conference of advertising women. In attendance will be Miss Olive Cole, Boston, advertising manager for a big safety razor company. The country has many other women who hold important and lucrative positions as advertising managers. Many stores now have women advertising managers, and a still greater number have women for assistant advertising chiefs.

In addition to the good traits that have made woman able to forge forward in various lines, her understanding of the feminine mind has made her especially valuable in the advertising field, for it is a recognized fact that women do most of the buying.

Speaking of the proposed conference to advance the cause of advertising women and to discuss problems peculiar to their daily work, Miss Martin said former advertising conventions have been planned with the apparent thought that the advertising women wanted only to be included in the entertainment program. She declares the advertising women are interested in the serious side of the great convention as well as in its tours and teas, and that there will be ample proof of this at Philadelphia.

Mrs. O. A. Pastorius has been visiting the past week with Eldon Wolfe and family, six miles south of Maryville.

WAR HITS CUPID.

Effect In United States Seen In Matrimonial Ads.

MEN ARE BECOMING SCARCE.

Beautiful Blonds and Brunettes Seek Life Mates by Long Distance Means, but Their Hopes Are Being Shattered—Expert Warns Girls of Triflers.

Minneapolis.—War in Europe is playing havoc with mail order matrimony in America.

The loverlorn, languid and lackadaisically lax and even the triflers are trifling only in trifles in the romantic game of passion by post.

An ample young lady, Titian haired, dimpled and doll-like, in temporary charge of the offices of a matrimonial paper here, testified to these facts after qualifying as an expert on long distance love for home consumption.

"Things are not as they used to be here," said the doll-like person, shaking her Titian tinted tufts in an emphatic negative.

"Time was when money flowed in—$100 and more every day. Six address clerks were busy as could be. Then the war broke out. Only two girls are working now, and they're on half time.

"Any one who thinks American spinsters are husbanding prospects for obtaining husbands in advance of an after war demand for marriageable men in Europe is badly mistaken."

The paper is a monthly, published for the past twenty-five years. It's a sixteen page mail order affair, closely printed and filled with "ladies' and gentlemen's personals," as for example:

BEAUTIFUL Bohemian girl, with big laughing brown eyes, brown tresses, pretty teeth; age, twenty; five feet five inches tall; weight, 130 pounds; quiet disposition; neat dresser; lover of home; good cook; fond of music and dancing; Protestant faith. If suited will marry.

HELLO, GIRLS! I am the fellow that's easy to get along with; am thirty-two years old; five feet seven inches tall; weigh 138 pounds and have gray eyes and black hair; work in a wagon yard, but still at home with my parents. Would be delighted to hear from jolly, good natured girl, as I want a wife.

Scores of personals filled the paper for April, but those from men are growing woefully scarce.

The young woman in charge was concerned for both the paper and its patrons.

"A man from Montana called the other day," she said, "to tell how he got his first wife through the paper and that he wanted us to get him another.

"I asked him what he did with the first one and he said sadly that he was a widower by death and so back for a second, though he didn't even hope to get one better than his first. So a satisfied customer always returns, and we're doing good for some people.

"But there are a lot—girls especially—who would do better by leaving well enough alone. Not because of triflers—although men are always trifling and don't have to correspond to do it—but because few find happiness.

"Men are always looking for money or women to keep house for nothing, and many girls would do better to keep their positions and stop seeking happy homes.

"Yet thousands are doing it. Our basement is full of applications—just loads of them."

The young woman then volunteered the statement that after years of observation of the "game," she wouldn't answer a gentleman's personal if it was accompanied by a photograph of a man more perfect than Adonis.

And another paradox. The owner of the paper is fifty and still single.

WOMAN RUNS BUSINESS.

Young's Widow Carries on His Work After His Death.

La Crosse, Wis.—Mrs. Bertha Young, manager of a large lumber company, has closed the company's offices in this city and moved to Minneapolis, which is more accessible to the market.

The local lumber company was organized twenty-three years ago by John D. Young, who managed it until his death eleven years ago. Since that time the work has been carried on by his widow, who has shown remarkable talent as a manager. The company operates six retail yards in Southern Minnesota—Fairmont, Fulda, Whalen, Dunnell, Alpha and Chandler.

Mrs. Young is a social favorite and the mother of a large family.

BULL BROUGHT $4,000.

Herd of Cattle at Auction Netted Owner $54,000.

Norway, Ia.—In a record breaking sale of stock on a ranch near here recently eighty head were sold in three hours for $54,000, the highest price being paid for a bull, $4,000, while a bull calf brought $2,100, and a heifer calf $500.

The sale was attended by hundreds of stockmen from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Gets 200 Pounds of Turtle.

Lawrenceburg, Ind. — George W. Coombs, aged forty-nine, caught nearly 200 pounds of snapping turtles in Tanner's creek, about eighty miles from here. Coombs used a trout line and baited the hooks with frogs, fishing nearly all night. He sold part of his catch for 15 cents a pound and butchered the two largest turtles, weighing nearly fifty pounds, to give several friends turtle soup at a local smoker.

A Young Man of The Name of Mors

By BYLAND BELL.

The stagecoach drew up in front of a tavern in New Mexico. A young man with light hair and a mild blue eye alighted and was going into the house when a man with a red bloated face covered with a stubble beard stopped him and said:

"You're the purtiest boy we ever seen in these parts, and them clothes air jist too beautiful for an angel. Come in and have a drink."

"Thank you. I've never touched a drop of liquor in my life."

"Well, it's time you begun. Come on."

He took the young man by the arm. The youngster resisted and struck the ruffian in the face. There was a report, and the youngster fell.

Two weeks after that the man with the red face and stubble beard was standing on the tavern porch when the daily coach drove up at the same time of day that the blue eyed boy had arrived. The door opened, and the same boy got out. He was very pale, but he had the same light hair and blue eyes as the other. The man with the red beard gave back a step or two as though he had seen a ghost.

"I'm looking," said the new arrival in a voice that seemed to come from the tomb, "for a man called Hawkins. Can any of you gentlemen tell me where I can find him?"

The stranger's attention was directed to the man with the red beard.

"Would you like to have me drink with you, sir?" asked the newcomer.

Hawkins seemed tongue tied. A pallor stood on his usually red face, and he was trembling.

"I don't feel like a drink jist now," he said.

"Perhaps you would like a game. My name is Mors. It's a name taken from a dead language. I've come to this country for the man who killed another two weeks ago because he wouldn't drink with him. Either Mors or Hawkins must cease to live. Cards are an easier way of settling the matter than guns. Come; let's have a game of euchre."

Taking Hawkins by the arm, he led him into the barroom. Hawkins seemed bereft of the power to resist and seated himself at the same table with the stranger. A pack of cards was produced, and Mors fixed them for euchre, mixed them, cut them and dealt a hand for himself and the man before him. Hawkins took up his cards mechanically, but did not see them. His eye was fixed on the man who had come back from the dead, he doubted not, to drag him down into the grave.

"The best three in five wins," said the stranger.

The first game he won, for Hawkins played without giving any attention to the game. The second Hawkins made an attempt to pull himself together, but did not succeed. The stranger won again. In the third game Hawkins played his cards without looking at them. He lost.

Mors deliberately pulled a pistol from his pocket, keeping his eye on the other, and as deliberately pointed it at Hawkins, who seemed paralyzed, making no effort whatever to draw his weapon. The stranger, keeping his eye fixed on him, said:

"You've played a game with death and lost. My twin brother came out to this country to locate here, and you killed him. I was told that there was no law in this country except gun law, so I came out to get the man that murdered my brother. I didn't see any use in a gun fight when we could settle the matter by a game. Hands up!"

The last two words were spoken at seeing in Hawkins' eye a change. The murderer had been in doubt whether he was not talking to the ghost of the man he had killed till he learned that he was flesh and blood. His eye indicated that he had regained some of his equanimity, and he was about to put up a fight. The avenger saw it, and his own eye indicated that at the slightest motion to draw his weapon he would be shot. He sat immovable.

"Gentlemen," said the stranger, "I would much prefer that you would relieve me of a disagreeable duty. I was very ill when the news of my brother's death reached me and have not yet recovered. Don't you think that your town would be well rid of this fiend and that as respectable citizens it is up to you to do what is not a fit task for a sick man? Say the word. Shall I shoot him, or will you take him out and swing him?"

A man standing behind Hawkins, who had suffered from him, but feared him, jerked Hawkins' gun from his hip, then said to the dozen men standing about:

"Gents, will you let this sick boy do what it has long been our duty to do? This desperado has killed five men in four months, and for no good reason. Come on."

The speaker pinioned Hawkins' arms to his side; the others sprang forward, and the murderer was hustled out, the crowd assisting or following.

"Give me a bracer," said the man who had called himself Death, and when liquor was set before him he drank it off and, setting down the glass, said:

"That's the first liquor that has ever passed down my throat, and it will be the last. I needed it."

When the crowd returned they thanked the stranger for having accomplished what they had never dared to do themselves.

CLARINDA GREETED COLBERT

Dean of Normal Spoke to Page County Rural Graduates—Formerly Superintendent There.

The many friends of Prof. G. H. Colbert of Maryville were glad on Wednesday to greet him once more, after ten years absence from the county. The rural school graduates on Wednesday were pleased to have our former county superintendent gave the graduating address.

For ten years Prof. Colbert has been connected with the Maryville Normal school, being now the dean of that important institution. Mrs. Colbert and the two younger children still live in Maryville. The older son, Herschel, took a course in journalism at the Missouri state university, and is now engaged in newspaper work in Chicago.

The Maryville Normal last week graduated a class of fifty, and are now conducting a summer school that has 700 students enrolled. Prof. Colbert has never lost his interest in the schools of Page county, and when here expressed satisfaction at the great progress the schools have made since his departure.—Clarinda Herald.

RAVENWOOD MAY SHINE NEXT

Maryville Light Company Makes Proposition to Run Electric Line There.

Last week Mr. C. C. Hellmers, manager of the electric light plant of Maryville, was here, and at a meeting of a umber of live wire business men, made a proposition in regard to lighting our town. Everyone present seemed to think that this was the best proposition ever offered our town in the way of electric lights.

If ever a town needed an up-to-date lighting system it is Ravenwood, and we believe that the citizens of Ravenwood will lend every possible assistance to land electric lights in Ravenwood.—Ravenwood Gazette.

JUVENILE FROCK.

For young girls is this gown, so charming in its simplicity. The material is white marquisette set off with novelty fillet lace.

SUMMER FURS.

Capes of ermine, mole, kolinsky, mink and, yes, tulle trimmed seal are the most distinctive of the fur fashions of the day and will maintain their supremacy throughout the summer and into the fall and winter season. It is remarkable how cleverly the furriers have developed style ideas for these things.

It is almost as though they had used the new styles in lawn, muslin and organdie neckwear and copied their shapes and designs in fur, combining several pelts very skillfully and not disdaining to use satin, taffetas, ribbons, tulle, ostrich feathers and even silk and bead embroideries to make these new sorts of shoulder coverings distinctive and original.

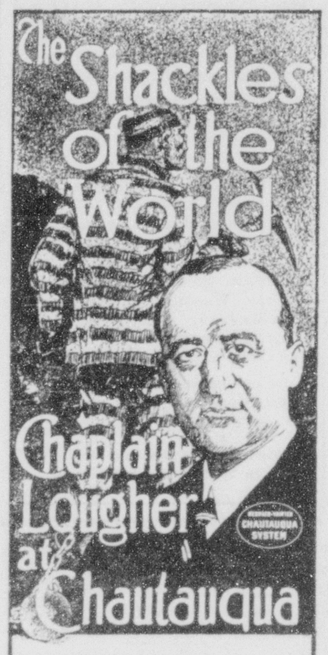
THE SHACKLES OF THE WORLD

Great Prison Worker to Lecture at Chautauqua on Sane Reform.

This able orator, Chaplain E. H. Lougher, has been secured to deliver his great address on "The Shackles of the World."

No man living has a better right to speak on this theme. No man is better equipped from the standpoint of investigation and personal experience.

Lougher is not a sensationalist, but yet he creates profound sensations.



He is a living encyclopedia of facts and figures on criminology and speaks his convictions in words of fire. He is thoroughly in earnest and has a set purpose in his platform work.

His long experience in prison work among criminals has given him a keen insight into prison problems, and wonderfully warmed his native sympathies. He is not a crank, however, and deals with the absorbing questions involved in a sane and sensible way.

SUGGESTIONS FOR TRAVEL

HINTS FOR COMFORTS AND CONVENIENCE OF WOMEN.

Don't Use Water on Face Too Often, Try to Approximate Home Conditions.

When you start on your journey, use your complexion brush well, then rub cold cream into the skin, and powder lightly. This will protect the skin from chapping. During the day, do not use water and soap on the face—with the cinders and dust, it is too drying.

Instead, carry a number of little three- or four-inch cheesecloth squares, and, when the face needs refreshing or cleansing, smear it with cold cream and go over it carefully with a cheese cloth square, wiping off cream and dirt together.

When the face is perfectly clean, the ears carefully wiped out, the eyebrows and lashes brushed free from dust with your tiny eyebrow brush, the nostrils wiped out, then dust on powder again, and you will look as clean as clean can be. The cream and powder act as a protection to the skin.

At night, go to the dressing room, take off all your clothes, just as you would at home, slip on your nightgown and kimono or Pullman robe, and get out complexion brush and your own soap. Notice I say "your own soap." Nothing is worse for the skin than changing from one soap to another. Scrub your face thoroughly as you would at home, and rub in cold cream. In the morning wash with tepid water. If warm water is not obtainable, sponge off with a solution half alcohol and half water, before applying cream and powder.

Do not try to sleep in your corsets or underclothes, as some women do on the train—it is productive of headaches constipation, and such broken slumber as leaves one haggard.

Constipation is a big foe of travelers, so be careful what you eat on the diner, ordering fresh fruit for each meal when obtainable. Slip some lemons in your bags, and take the juice of one in cool water on rising, and at night, or during the day, eat figs and oranges, and drink plenty of water.—Bettina Van Ness in the June Mother's Magazine.

Mrs. John Allen and her son, James, of Clyde were shopping in Maryville today.

Representative Hay and Senator Lee Would Give $30 to $50 a Month.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, June 24.—A bill to appropriate $2,650,000 to provide aid for dependents of enlisted men of the national guard mustered into the military service of the United States was introduced today by Senator Lee of Maryland and referred to the committee on pensions.

The measure would direct the secretary of the interior, co-operating with the commissioner of pensions, to make inquiry into the condition of such dependent persons and to pay them not to exceed $30 a month, except in extraordinary cases.

A bill offered by Representative Hay and unanimously adopted, would appropriate not exceeding one million dollars for allowances not to exceed $50 a month to dependents of national guardsmen with no other income than the guardmen's pay.

Mrs. Frank Redfield and her two children and her niece, Miss Louie Morey, of Sedalia, have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Redfield for the last week. Mrs. Redfield and her children went home today, but Miss Morey will remain in Maryville with her grand parents for some weeks.

Martin Pederson brought in hogs to Will N. Wray last Friday that came to $303.15, which is a part of $487.35 worth that he fed out of 600 bushels of corn he raised last season, and retained eleven head at home yet, besides feeding his horses and twelve cows. While his pasture feed helped him out, yet we contend this is a good showing for the amount of corn he had.

CONCEPTION COURIER.

T. F. Merrigan, Jr., returned Tuesday morning from St. Marys, Kan., where he has been attending college during the past year. T. F. was the recipient of a gold medal for first honors, and the record made by him during his attendance, is one of which any young man might justly be proud.

Mrs. Tom Lyon came in from Maryville Wednesday, where she has been in St. Francis hospital for some time. She will visit until Sunday at the home of her parents, Henry Berg and wife, before returning to her home west of town.

HOPKINS JOURNAL.

It was Cashier J. C. Pistole of the Farmers and Merchants bank, who left the new potatoes on our desk last week, but, of course, it was his wife who grew them. Mrs. Pistole had new potatoes from her garden May 28 or three days earlier than any one else we have so far heard from.

Arthur Beinert, who is with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company, was a guest of his father, A. F. Beinert, a couple of days last week. His headquarters are in Tacoma, Wash., but he has been on the road for a few weeks doing detail work for the company.

BARNARD BULLETIN.

Miss Ruby Key, who has been teaching in Hopkins the past year, left Thursday morning for Boulder, Colo., where she will attend the university.

O. A. Haselwood and family left Thursday for Clyde, Colo., where they will visit his sister, Mrs. Frank Pearce. Later they will go to Colorado Springs to visit with J. R. Thrasher and family. Haselwood was formerly editor of the Bulletin.

A la Postmaster Perkins.

Last Sunday the members of the Cole family and other near relatives gathered at the home of Houston Smith. Those present were Mrs. J. W. Smith and children of Blockton, Ia.; Mrs. S. H. Turner and son of Patmas, Ark.; I. M. Barnes and wife, George Cole and family, Mrs. Nancy Cole, Ben Smith and daughter of Mathis Texas, and Fred Breit.

An interesting occasion of the afternoon was the weighing of the Cole children, the four weighing 870 pounds.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION POST.

Leander and Gerald Cummins and Francis Tobin, who have been attending the Conception college the past term, are expected home tonight. Miss Irene Tobin, who is a student in the academy at Clyde, is also expected home tonight.

J. A. Glover now comes to the front with the newest frost story of the season, declaring that there was quite a severe frost on the morning of June 9. He made a trip to his farm, southwest of Burlington Junction, and brought some young apple tree leaves that had been nipped by Mr. Jack, and offers them as proof.

When it comes ti "doing things" the mayor and city council have a habit of holding the belt. A short time ago they decided that the old building, which has served as the city hall for several years, should be sent to the discard so far as the solons were concerned, and Friday they moved into more attractive and commodious quarters over the First National bank. It is a big improvement over the old arrangement.

The experience of two Clearmont young men would be a good subject for the News-Press "The Worst is Yet to Come" cartoons. Here it is as told by the News: Charley Smith and Charley Wallace finished planting corn yesterday afternoon, then decided to have a swim. One of them was smoking his pipe and when they went to the water the pipe was left with the clothes. When they came out of the water, lo and behold that pipe had smoked right along and had used up all the clothes except one shoe. They wrapped up in storm robes and went to a nearby house and borrowed clothes to come home.

Mrs. J. C. Ordnung and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, will leave on the Burlington train today for a visit in the west and southwest, intending to be gone until next March. They will visit in Ransom, Kan., where a reunion of the Shellenberger family will be held July 4, and will go from there to Seattle, where they will spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Young, formerly of this place. In October they expect to go to Holtville, Cal., and will remain there visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eby and children until next spring. The Eby family owns an irrigated ranch near Holtville, which is in the Imperial valley. The winter climate there is fine, but it is a little warm in the summer for comfort, Mrs. Eby writing her mother recently that for several days the mercury had registered 108 degrees.

We Say "Amen."

The Post had a subscription contest under its present publisher once. This was three and a half years ago. As other publishers have learned to their sorrow, the contest was of no real benefit to us, and brought with it a large measure of grief. We will not have another. In fact, our sentiments regarding contests and premiums are about on a par with those of Fred Marvin, editor of the Greeley (Colo.) Spokesman, who says:

"We wish to state that we have nothing to give away with a subscription. We are here to gain readers on merit and merit alone. This is no prize package paper. You can buy your automobiles, your earrings, your popcorn, and other things of those who deal in them, for you will get none with a subscription to this paper. We contend that one man who takes a paper because he wants it is of more value to an advertiser than a hundred who get the paper because they wish to aid some friend to win a prize."

J.L. BAKER DAMAGE SUIT OUT

Case of Maryville Man Against Hillix Ends in Judge Allen's Division in St. Joseph.

The case of John L. Baker of Maryville against William Hillix of St. Joseph, in which Baker demanded $20,000 damages for alleged false arrest and malicious prosecution, pending in Judge Allen's division of the circuit court, this afternoon was thrown out of court on a demurrer. Baker was arrested last fall on a charge of selling Mrs. Hillix a carpet sweeper that was not up to representations.—The News-Press.

MRS. STEPHEN COULTER DIES

Former Maryville Woman Will Probably Be Buried at Houston, Texas.

Mrs. Stephen Coulter, a daughter of Mrs. Wm McComb of North Fillmore street, died at her home in Houston, Texas, yesterday evening. Word was received by Mrs. McComb this morning.

Mrs. Coulter was 47 years old and formerly lived here. Her husband was a carpenter and contractor and moved to Houston twelve years ago. Her son, Buel Coulter, and her husband survive. Burial will probably be in Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Wright and their son, Simeon, returned to Maryville today after a visit with their daughter, Mrs. L. E. Conklin, at Douglas, Kan.

Mrs. W. C. Pierce and daughter, Miss Dorothy Pierce, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George C. Toel in St. Joseph.

SAVED CHICKS' LIVES.

Telegrapher Made a Feather Duster Substitute For a Hen.

Defiance, O.—Using a feather duster as a brooder to substitute for a cannibal hen, "Shorty" Eberle saved the lives of some of his chicks.

When Eberle is not busy as manager of the Postal Telegraph company he devotes his time to raising fancy chickens. When one of his hens was not busy scratching she gave her time to digesting some of the brood she had recently hatched.

Eberle noticed the chicks began to disappear. One by one they went until he discovered the hen's appetite was stronger than her mother love. A heavy ration of ground bone and hamburger steak didn't appease her. She ate another.

Then, with a cunning he didn't suspect himself, he threw the hen out, bought a big feather duster and suspended it in the coop. The chicks snuggle among the feathers and are perfectly content with their inanimate mother.

SEES SIGHTS AT SEVENTY.

Woman, Former Slave, Gets First Knowledge of Modern Inventions.

Columbus, O.—Mrs. Emily Booker, seventy years of age, a former slave, in Columbus visiting relatives, for the first time saw an electric car, an elevator, a moving picture show and a building more than two stories in height.

Her relatives gave her the first knowledge she had that a war is in progress in Europe. Mrs. Booker's home is near North Middleton, Ky., thirty miles from a railroad and almost as far from a highway.

Once, several years ago, she saw a party of tourists in an automobile which had strayed from the road through the wilderness in which she has lived all her life.

RATTLESNAKES USE RAFTS.

Save Themselves From Floods and Reach Islands.

Austin, Tex.—J. C. Herring of Rockport, a ranchman of the coast country, says when heavy rises come out of the Guadalupe and other Texas rivers large rafts of drift are washed into the bay and rattlesnakes are often seen on them.

This driftwood goes ashore on the islands, and that starts the snakes. They are caught in the drift meshes on the mainland and cling to the rafts as they are washed down stream and into the bays. Mr. Herring has killed them on such occasions.

At one time there were no jack rabbits on these islands, but now there are thousands.

Three Cats Mummified.

Shoals, Ind.—When moving a house in the business district of town, workmen found the bodies of three cats, which were mummified. The cats evidently died under the dwelling, but the bodies had not decayed. The house had been occupied by one family for forty years.

JONES BACK WITH HORSES

Parnell Man Won Many Firsts in Mexico—To Canada and East in the Fall.

B. A. Jones arrived home Friday from Tia Juana, Mexico, where he had been several weeks with his race horses. When he left here just before last Thanksgiving he took eighteen head of his best horses to Juarez, Mexico, but has sold all but two, which will soon go into the races in Canada. He brought back two horses which belong to other parties. Nearly all of his horses won first money in most of the races they were in. He has a fine "string" to start out with next fall, which will probably go east.—Parnell Seatinel.

Success.

How can it be explained that Dr. Prettyman has continued his visits to Maryville for more than sixteen years and has always had a large practice?

He certainly could not have done so unless he has done good work for somebody and has dealt fairly and honestly with all whom he has treated.

The physician who can accomplish all he would like to do for all his cases does not exist. The physician who claims to cure all his cases is a fake. The physician who cures a large percentage of the cases he undertakes is a success.

If you are afflicted with any chronic disease you should call on Dr. Prettyman, have him examine you and, if he decides your case is curable, let him treat you. You can depend upon him. Consult him at the Linville Hotel Monday, June 26.

Clarinda Man Recovering.

Mr. Johnston, owner of the Johnston garage at Clarinda, whose automobile was struck by a Burlington train yesterday, is not so seriously injured as was at first thought. He is all right today, with the exception of a cut on his face.
